

Dear One Lambda Customer,

One Lambda Software programs are no longer available for download from this site.

Please contact your One Lambda representative to obtain the latest full version of the software program you need.

If you are not sure who your representative is, please call customer support at 1-800-822-8824. Or send an email to the following link: sales@onelambda.com.

This change is mandated by regulatory and company policy requirements regarding the need to track product distribution. We apologize for this initial inconvenience, however we believe this change will ensure you are provided with product information in a timely manner specific to the software you are using.

We will continue to provide the downloadable lot specific analysis files for use with our software on this download site. Please go to the applicable software program directory, there you will find sub folders with important product related information. The analysis files are organized in product line folders within each program directory. The most current lots and revisions are always available and updated immediately upon release.

Thank you for choosing One Lambda products. We appreciate your feedback and your continued support.

Best regards,

One Lambda Marketing Department